

THE MAROON

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF LOYOLA UNIVERSITY

VOL. 1

NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15th, 1923

No. 2

WOLVES OUTPLAY DOCTORS IN GREAT SCORELESS TIE

(G. Moore)

Loyola's Wolves won the hearts of New Orleans fans and the respect of the entire South when in the greatest battle that has been seen on a local gridiron in many a year, they outplayed Tennessee's undefeated Doctors in a 0-0 tie. For the first time in three years, the powerful Tennessee backs failed to cross an opponent's goal, and only several cruel bits of fortune for the Wolves saved them from their first defeat in that length of time.

Pitted against a team that outweighed them, battling against odds that seemed insurmountable, those Wolves waged a battle that will go down as one of the greatest achievements in Loyola's football history. It was heart-rending to see those warriors deprived of a touchdown by a costly fumble after completely outplaying the highly touted Medics from Memphis. But that cruel break was more than atoned for by the thrill which the Wolves gave every Loyola supporter when they stood with their backs to the goal and repelled every mighty charge of the Tennessee backs, who had not been stopped in three hard seasons.

That picture of Phil White, candidate for an All-American berth, hitting a banked up line and instead of going forward, shooting upward, will live vividly in Loyola's memory forever. Unable to gain through the impregnable line of the Wolves, White shot a long pass to Leake who raced to Loyola's nine-yard line in the last quarter. Three off tackle lunges by Sam Raines, former Washington and Lee star, and Doc Sanders, who starred for the Texas Aggies in their victory over Centre two years ago, put the ball on Loyola's one-yard line and set the scene for White's mighty but futile plunge.

Harold Winling inscribed his name among Loyola's immortals with the greatest exhibition of football that has been displayed by any back here this season. In every play, cutting down interference, backing up the line, gaining with brilliant plunging and running and topping it all with a masterful exhibition of punting, Winling stood out over a great squad of football players, Saturday.

One of the most spectacular plays of the game was worked by the Loyola fullback in the final quarter. On a fake kick formation he tore around left end and raced down the field for 70 yards before being downed. Winling was called back 35 yards by Umpire Maloney, who claimed that he stepped out of bounds. The umpire, who was not near the Loyola back, seemed alone in his claim that Winling had stepped out of bounds.

Head linesman Schwartz, who followed Winling down the line, seems the one who should have ruled on the play and Schwartz, backed up by numerous others on the side lines, stated that the Loyola back did not step out.

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 3.)

Dances Entertain Students of Loyola

(Geo. C. Schoenberger)

"Man! just listen to that band!"

"Say, Tom, introduce me to that girl you were just dancing with."

These and many other such outbursts could be heard at the Loyola gym on the nights of Saturday, November 3 and November 10, as a happy, laughing, swaying crowd of joyful youths kept time to the throbbing music of the pulsating strains of jazz.

The first of these two delightful entertainments was given by the Pre-Law class and marked the formal opening of the gym which will be the scene of a series of such gatherings throughout the entire scholastic year. A fine crowd was present—in fact, just the right sized crowd—just enough to make the dance a success and not so many as to make the hall crowded.

The Owls furnished the music and, believe me, they sure can "hoot." They kept up the pep and life of the crowd until the very last step and every one left saying he had the time of his life.

The second dance was sponsored by the Student Organization of the Academic department and, like first, was a huge success. This time king jazz was served by the Humpty Dumpties, and from the keen music they played and the clever antics that they go through in producing it, there is no wonder as to how they earn their name.

One thing that was noticed by all was the congenial sociability of the gatherings at both dances. There was a most select crowd present, being composed of the college set and their friends.

The football players of the varsity and Freshmen squads, as well as those of the visiting team, were entertained as guests at both dances.

CENTENARY MAY PLAY LOYOLA ON DECEMBER 10

(Gar. Moore)

A chance for Loyola to obtain national recognition may come early in December if negotiations for a game with Bo McMillan's strong Centenary team are completed. Centenary's fine showing in the East where they held Boston College to two touchdowns as well as the great of the Gentlemen, has made them well known wherever football is played.

Loyola athletic authorities have been dickering for a game with Centenary for a good while, and as The Maroon goes to press, there is a strong probability that the contest will be played here around December 10.

Loyola's scoreless tie with the Tennessee Doctors, who defeated Centenary last season 14-0, has placed them in a position where they will be favored to revenge the defeat handed the last season by the Gentlemen.

Freshmen Put Up Game Fight But Lose to L. S. U.

(G. P. Crane)

On Saturday, November 3, the L. S. U. Freshmen defeated the Loyola Freshmen by the score of 13-0. The game was a preliminary to the Loyola-Dallas contest and rivalled the latter in interest. For three quarters it was nip and tuck with neither team having the advantage. During that time neither team threatened the other, fighting desperately when they were forced back within their 20-yard line.

The game was played in a light rain which marred an otherwise beautiful game. The condition of the field after a few minutes of play necessitated straight football throughout.

The Wolf Pups realized that a victory over the Baby Tigers would efface the defeats in the other two games, and from the opening whistle they fought determinately. Were it not for the breaks of the game and the brilliant work of Freeman, the Freshmen might have obtained a draw.

The last quarter opened with the ball in the Tigers' possession in their own territory. Three attempts resulted in a five-yard gain, placing the ball on the Tigers' 40-yard line. Freeman was called back to punt. The punt was partially blocked by "Maggie" Clark, the ball bounding towards the Pups' goal. L. S. U. recovered the ball and play was started in the middle of the field. Twice more the punt was blocked, once by Molony and again by Clark and recovered by L. S. U. The ball was now on the 30-yard line. Freeman was called back to the fullback position and on his eight consecutive bucks he carried it over for a touchdown. A pass for the extra point was successful.

The Freshmen chose to kick. Advancing the ball by bucks and short forward passes, the Tigers gained the yellow jackets' 20-yard line. A long pass to an open end resulted in the second touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

Freeman was the outstanding star of the game. His playing while at tackle was excellent and his work in the backfield turned the tide of battle.

Jimmy Woulfe, Johnny Holmes and Harry Kinsella played well for the Pups. A. D. Smith's punting was of the highest order.

THIRD SUNDAY STUDENTS' MASS AT EIGHT O'CLOCK

On Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, there will be mass and general Communion for Loyola students. All the departments are urged to be 100 per cent present. The sermon will be preached by Rev. J. M. Walsh, S.J.

The Cafeteria will provide breakfast after mass for those who so desire.

A name! A name! Half a Kingdom for a name—to the Year Book.

Officers of Four Departments Meet

(Phil Clark)

The officers of the various classes of the Arts and Science, Dental, Law and Pharmacy departments of Loyola University, as also the members of the staff of The Maroon, the Law Journal and the Dental Journal, met Thursday, November 8 at 9 p. m. for the purpose of discussing various topics of interest to the whole student body of the University.

Mr. Guilbeau, president of the Senior Law Class, was appointed temporary chairman, and upon his calling for nominations of a permanent chairman, Mr. Strickland, president of the Senior Dental class was called upon to take the chair.

Upon request of the chairman, Mr. Janssen, S.J., faculty advisor of The Maroon and of the Student Organization of the Arts and Science department, announced that a request had been made by members of all the departments of the University to publish a Loyola Year Book, and suggested that a committee composed of members of every department, be appointed to discuss the ways and means of getting up this big publication. He also explained the aims and purposes of The Maroon, which is the official Loyola University newspaper, and said that every effort was being made to raise it from a four to an eight-page issue. He also suggested that a student council be formed which would preside over all student activities common to all the departments of the University, without destroying or interfering in the least with any of the existing separate department organizations or frats.

These several suggestions were at once submitted for discussion and after due deliberation the following motions were made and seconded and adopted unanimously by officers present:

1. That a committee of law students meet a committee of the Dental, Pharmacy and Arts and Science departments on Monday, November 12 at 9 p. m., for the purpose of discussing ways and means of getting up a Loyola Year Book.

2. That the officers of the Law department call a meeting of the night students and the officers of the other departments, of the day students, for the purpose of inquiring into the pleasure of the student body as to the formation of a student council to preside over all student activities of interest to all the departments, and for these same officers to inform one another of the outcome of those meetings.

No formal motion was proposed about The Maroon; this would have been quite useless, as most of the departments had already signified their willingness to co-operate with the staff of The Maroon by subscribing to it and by their contributions of articles.

Mr. Greenberg, president of the Pre-Legal class, then made a motion that the Loyola Student Organization hire

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.)

THE MAROON

STAFF

HAROLD A. DEMPSEY.....Editor in Chief
 AUBIN A. SONGY }.....Business Managers
 PHILIP CLARK }
 GARDERE MOORE.....Sporting Editor
 WILLIAM HEBERT }.....Advertising Managers
 MAURICE HARTSON, Jr. }

DEPARTMENT EDITORS

GEORGE SCHOENBERGER, Jr.....Art and Science
 LESLIE LANDRY.....Pharmacy
 ROSENBERG.....Dental
 STEPHEN C. HARTEL.....Law

FACULTY ADVISOR

REV. F. JANSSEN, S. J.

Published twice every month during the Scholastic year by the Students of Loyola University, New Orleans, La.

Address all correspondence to The Maroon, Loyola University, New Orleans, La.

FOR A GREATER LOYOLA

NEEDS OF A UNIVERSITY

There are three phases to the life of every university student in the world today. If he neglects any of them he is not a full-fledged university student. If his university fails to foster any of them, she is not a full-fledged university.

The university life of today comprises a rough voyage along the paths of knowledge; a keen endeavor upon the field of athletics; and a prominent position in the circles of social life.

These are the three qualifications that an institution must have in order to be considered among the universities of today. The antiquarian idea of a university is no longer extant in the estimation of the world.

The standard of knowledge at Loyola does not permit the student a carefree promenade down the broadway of knowledge, he must work his way assiduously.

In athletics, Loyola is represented by teams that do not resort to foul play. They are teams that win their honors through prowess and intrepidity.

In social activities Loyola has always claimed a position of distinction and prominence. The dances of the past week have shown this and it is hoped that they will continue along the same high ideals that mark a dance as a Loyola student function.

A SODALITY AT LOYOLA

A movement has for some time been in evidence within the University to organize a sodality. During previous years, and especially last year, this was tried without any startling success. Officers were elected and plans laid for the building up of a select body of students to carry on the work and share in the privileges which accompany such an organization, but the movement failed through the utter lack of sympathy and co-operation on the part of the students themselves.

It ought to be the earnest wish of every student whose religious convictions would warrant an interest in such a movement to see this thing go through and be a success. Other colleges have sodalities and are proud of them. The students take an active part in the functions relative to such bodies and the result is highly favorable both to the college and to the students.

It's a peculiar thing that when an individual is approached on such a subject and requested to join the sodality he becomes both wary and suspicious and directs his whole attention to making a fast get-away, as if he is being sold something undesirable or asked for a donation. This should not be the case.

The movement has been started again this year, officers have been elected and semi-monthly meetings are being held in the College Chapel. Thus far the attendance has been scanty, but more propitious results are anticipated.

Let's get together and put this thing across. It can be done, and with a little co-operation on the part of the students it shall be. In the end it will serve to enhance the glory of Loyola through the numerous benefits consequent on the perpetuation of a great work, and since the watchword is "A Greater Loyola," this is a favorable opportunity to show some spirit.

OUR CHEER LEADER

(By Loyola Co-Ed.)

Loyola has a marvelous football team a fine school spirit and the freshest of Freshmen; but best of all, our University boasts a cheer leader, who has personality. Mr. Dayries, late of Tulane University, now lends his inestimable services to the furtherance of pep, in the greatest stadium of the South.

Perhaps it is his facial contortions, which work the magic charm, or then again, it may be a voice (like unto the late Caruso's, for volume if not for quality) which changes the most unemotional spectator into a frenzied rooter, but whatever it is, it gets results.

Bill Smith does a spectacular bit of playing, and the heart of every collegian responds with a satisfying thrill but it is Dayries who makes these thrills materialize into something as tangible as an Indian war whoop.

One leaves the game which is usually a Loyola victory, carrying away many impressions, the most vivid is that of an energetic cheer leader—who since he intends to follow in the footsteps of Patrick Henry, might paraphrase the latter's well-known remark, and repeat: "Give me cheers or give me death!"

OFFICERS OF FOUR DEPARTMENTS MEET

(Continued from Page 1.)

the steamship Capitol for the night of December 21, that the profits resulting from this enterprise would be given to the L. A. A., and that each president pledge the support of his class. Numerous inquiries were made concerning the contract to be made with the boat, and when Mr. Greenberg informed the assembly that a decision had to be reached right away because the contract was to be closed the very next morning before 8:30, the motion was rejected on the plea that no president had power to bind his class to a contract without first consulting his class. Instead of this a motion was proposed, seconded and adopted that the students would run all dances in the University gymnasium, one-third of the profits going to the L. A. A., one-third to the department responsible for the dance, and one-third to the paper or journal of the department responsible for the dance, unless other arrangements were made with Mr. B. S. D'Antoni, president of the L. A. A., who was present at the meeting.

Fr. Sullivan, S.J., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and Regent of the Dental department was also present, and much was accomplished through his timely and sound advice.

The meeting was adjourned after a motion to that effect.

This was the first meeting where so many of the departments of the University were represented. It is sincerely hoped that these meetings will continue and that the formation of a student council will soon be realized. Loyola has long been in need of this and it is with no small delight that we realize this great need will be supplied. As was said in a previous issue of this paper: "The student body must act in unison, they must become consolidated before they can co-operate sufficiently with the Faculty and thus achieve anything of consequence."

This spirit of co-operation manifested itself at the meeting and the offi-

Personals

(J. C. Borrodale)

When questioned recently by a way farer as to the location of the depot, Maggie Clark replied that it could be found close to the railroad tracks.

Jack Barker wants to know who is that team named "Pending," that Loyola plays November 17, 1923. Bring on the hook!

Dixie Carroll doesn't go into Thompson's because he's left-handed.

Goats and Owls for sale — Apply Carroll & Craven, Inc.

Vic Ledbetter received a serious burn from carbolic acid while trying to remove the warts on a pickle.

Joe Tuminello, bass horn virtuoso, has been requested to play "Somewhere Else."

Little Willie after attending a Loyola football game for the first time, before going to bed knelt down and prayed thus:

God bless pa,
 God bless ma,
 God bless Loyola,
 Rah, Rah, Rah!

No, Hartson, Manual Labor is not a Mexican.

They say that H. Gaudet is so absent minded that the other morning he poured cream over his head and scratched the berries.

After Math. Class

Professor: Why hurry to lunch; don't you know that the longer you keep from eating the better you feel?

Muller (on the side): I wonder if that's what made McSwiney feel like an angel after his hunger strike?

Professor: Starvation is one of the greatest benefits to health.

O'Keeke (waking): I wonder if Russia thinks that, too?

Mr. Guy Bernard is requested to wear on Friday, November 16, that precious little article of wearing apparel that has struck the eye of many. A dapper little knitted four-in-hand tie, with black, white and purple stripes is the object. If Guy will be so good as to comply with our request, he will satisfy the many inquisitors who have been asking: "Who is the worthy gentleman with the rosy cheeks, pink eyes and copper colored lips?"

Members of the various classes showed themselves deeply interested in all the matters that were discussed.

G. W. GILL

7025 Freret Street

—is our Campus Representative. He knows all about everything at—

CANAL at CHARTRES

PHARMACY NOTES

The election of the Senior Class officers was held during the first week of school with the following result: Mr. R. S. Whitley, president; Mr. P. J. Theriot, vice-president; Miss Marguerite Pierson, secretary and treasurer.

The Junior Class became organized and elected the following officers: Mr. L. B. Schwegmann, president; Mr. E. A. Smith, vice-president; Miss Rosaline Byron, secretary and treasurer.

The Pharmacy department is well represented on the gridiron, for Bill Smith, captain of the Varsity football team, was hailed back to Loyola as a Junior Pharmacy student.

On the Freshman team the Senior Class proudly boasts of Joe Billeaud. It was he who furnished the only touchdown for the Frosh against Jefferson College.

A great surprise came to the members of the Senior Class when the daily papers announced the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Everett to Mr. R. C. Roucquill, on October 24, 1923, at St. Francis of Assisi church.

Miss Everett was a fair member of the Senior Class and a very popular student at Loyola.

The winds carry strange sounds to the ears of the Pharmacy department. The word has been passed around, and it is hinted that the wedding bells will soon ring out again. Who? We are prevented from saying, because the party concerned does not wish HIS name to be mentioned.

The suggestion of a Beauty Contest in the Pharmacy department has been given serious consideration. Whether it is because of the quantity or because of the quality of the 16 students of the fair sex in the department, it is not known. But Pharmacy must bear in mind that it was a beauty contest that caused the great Slavo-Bingo war, the Scandinavian revolution and the famine of 46987 B. C., in the Planet of Mars.

The large attendance at Pep meetings and at the football games has won for Pharmacy great approbation from the Faculty and student body.

LAW NOTES

Mr. Viosca, president of the Freshman class, has promised not only to arrange a gym dance that will surpass all others in magnitude, but has also planned a series of social events that will set a precedent for all University affairs.

L-A-W at Loyola spells efficiency. There is no such thing as idleness. Each lecture generally begins with: "We will have to travel fast, as we have a lot to cover," and even when the bell rings at the close, we hear: "Just a moment, gentlemen, there is one more point I wish to explain."

The Juniors and Seniors have fallen into their routine of study and even the Freshmen have become fired with ambition, and arranged the first debate of the season. The subject of this debate resulted from their association with the Pre-Law students and Freshmen classes meet in the same classroom, the members of the Freshmen class should occupy the front seats." A great amount of interest is being displayed in the debate, and both sides are to be upheld by representative members of the two classes.

What is the unwritten law of a Loyola Law class? It may be summed up in one word—"LOYALTY." In the Law school one does not hear the question asked: "Are you going to the game tomorrow?" It is understood that every student will be there, just as though the game were a part of the schedule of studies. But why shouldn't they go? Doesn't the Law department furnish some of the best players on the team?

And talk about cheering: Ask Ben Dayries, Law school cheer leader. Ben says if they'd all cheer like the Lawyers, why they'd literally blow the team to victory.

DENTAL NOTES

It is with sincere pleasure that the Dental department of Loyola University greets its fellow students of the Arts and Science department through this medium of expression. We hope that the ideas and ideals presented through The Maroon may work towards one end—that of a greater University, and that through The Maroon a spirit of co-operation and loyalty may be worked up among the students which shall never be equaled by any other institution.

The Senior Class, being mentally, spiritually and otherwise, the leading class, has of late adopted a new headgear in the form of funeral derbies.

At their class meeting, held toward the end of October, after a much heated and debated session, the following were chosen to hold office for this, their last, year in the University: Mr. J. Tamburello, president; Mr. J. A. McMahon, vice-president; Mr. A. Goldfein, secretary and treasurer.

As a result of a recent student body meeting, three members of the Dental department were elected to hold office in the University Student Body council. They are: Messrs. Strickland, Tommeny and White. Another result of this student body meeting was that a motion that every student purchase a year book was unanimously adopted.

It is quite characteristic of the Junior Class to make an impression on the other classes in the way of exhibiting school activities. While it is true that the Seniors took an initial move in class propaganda, it will not be long before they themselves will look upon the Juniors as a class that can put a stunt over, one hundred per cent strong.

It has been suggested that every member adorn himself with a natural growth upon his upper lip, but as this might prove too arduous for the ladies in the class, something else has been suggested. What? We will let you know later.

Officers elected for this year in the Junior Class are: Mr. Tomeny, president; Mr. White, vice-president; Miss de Pomorski, secretary and treasurer. Much enthusiasm has been shown with regard to the Dental dance to be given at the University gymnasium on the evening of November 28.

SILER'S BOOKS

930 Canal Street

Compliments

of

New Orleans Public Service

Buy Your Xmas and New Year Cards Now

We do Engraving; Best Workmanship—Lowest Prices in the City

All kinds of Religious Gifts
McCANN
912 Canal Street

Compliments

of

FINLAY DICKS & CO., Inc.

Tropical Printing Company, Inc.

PRINTERS—STATIONERS—OFFICE OUTFITTERS
ENGRAVING and EMBOSING

THE FINEST SELECTION OF CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S PERSONAL GREETING CARDS IN THE CITY

729-735 Magazine Street

Phones Main 2951-2952

Established in 1900

INTERSTATE WHOLESALE GROCERS

INCORPORATED

OWNERS and OPERATORS
of

NICHOLAS BURKE CO.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

RENOUDET & DIETLEIN GROCERY CO.

New Iberia, La.

BOGALUSA GROCERY & GRAIN CO.

Bogalusa, La.

SLIDELL GROCERY & GRAIN CO.

Slidell, La.

DUPONT WHOLESALE CO.

Houma, La.

PERCY-LOBDELL CO.

Thibodaux, La.

COVINGTON GRAIN & GROCERY CO.

Covington, La.

PEARL RIVER GROCERY & GRAIN CO.

Columbia, Miss.

FOOTE-PATRICK CO.

Laurel, Miss.

MERCHANTS GROCERY CO.

Franklinton, La.

SUGAR BELT WHOLESALE CO.

Centerville, La.

C. BENNETTE MOORE

PHOTOGRAPHER

TELEPHONE APPOINTMENTS
MAIN 823

109 BARONNE STREET

THIRD FLOOR BEER BUILDING
TAKE ELEVATOR

NEW ORLEANS

LOYOLA DEFEATS UNIVERSITY OF DALLAS BY 10 TO 0 MARGIN

(M. J. Hartson)

On Saturday, November 3, Loyola's Wolves triumphed over the strong Dallas University by a score of 10-0. The field was a sea of mud and restricted the playing to straight football. Out of numerous attempts at passes by both teams, very few were successful.

In the first half Loyola completely outplayed Dallas, scoring seven first downs to none by Dallas. In the very beginning of the game, after Loyola forced Dallas to punt, Smith went off tackle for ten yards and Domengeaux around end for eight yards. By bucks and end runs the ball was brought to Dallas' one-yard line where Loyola was held.

Dallas kicked out of danger and Loyola again began its march down the field, but before they could reach the goal the first quarter ended with the ball in Loyola's possession, on Dallas' 25-yard line.

In the beginning of the second quarter Loyola was again kept in check and Unsworth made an unsuccessful drop kick. On Dallas' first play in this quarter Guidry intercepted a pass and went 12 yards before he was stopped. Domengeaux went eight yards off left end and Winling made first down. Once more Domengeaux made eight yards off end and Smith made another first down by inches. The ball was now on the five-yard line and due to three successful attempts by Smith and Winling the ball was brought to within a foot of the goal. The way the men from Dallas fought at this critical moment, it looked as if Loyola was going to be held once more, but they were unable to resist the powerful Loyola line and Harold Winling went over for a touchdown. Unsworth kicked goal for the extra point.

The first half of the game ended soon after this with the ball on the Dallas five-yard line.

Dallas came back in the second half a new team, and by working a successful passing game scored four first downs. With the ball on Loyola's 25-yard line it looked as if the men from Dallas were going to even up the score, but a pass which would have proven fatal for Loyola, was intercepted by Domengeaux. Soon after this Loyola's goal was threatened worse than before when, after a successful aerial attack the strong Dallas team brought the ball back to Loyola's five-yard line. Here, however, the Wolves showed once more their mettle and held the opposing team for four downs. The end of the third quarter came soon after Loyola had kicked out of danger.

In the last quarter of the game the Wolves came back strong and succeeded in bringing the ball to the 20-yard line where Unsworth ended the game with a pretty field goal.

The Loyola Wolves showed a great improvement over their previous games and are undoubtedly one of the greatest and strongest teams South. Domengeaux showed that he is not only a great man on the offensive, but also on a defensive game. On the line Unsworth and Burguires played well, as did Curtis. In the backfield Smith, Domengeaux and Winling were the chief ground gainers.

For Dallas Shephard played a great defensive game on the line, while Watts, the fullback, was the best ground gainer. He also passed and punted well.

Lineup and Summary:

Dallas (0)	Position	Loyola (10)
Donnelly	L.E.	Curtis
Hoban	L.T.	Unsworth
L. Bodenstein	L.F.	Tuminello
Shepard	C.	Guidry
Phillips	R.G.	Carroll
Wilson	R.T.	Burguires
Schneider	R.E.	Nolan
Pecacaro	Q.B.	Domengeaux
Moran	L.H.B.	Winling
McAdams	R.H.B.	Hebert
Watts	F.B.	Smith (c)

Score by periods:

Dallas	0	0	0	0	0
Loyola	0	7	0	3	10

Summary — Touchdown, Winling; field goal, Unsworth; goal after touchdown, Unsworth.

Substitutes: First quarter none; second quarter, Loyola, White for Hebert. Dallas, Howard for Donnelly, Carline for McAdams; third quarter, Loyola, Hebert for White; Dallas, Randolph for Phillips, McAdams for Carline; fourth quarter, Loyola, Cerniglia for Carroll, Broussard for Smith, White for Hebert; Dallas, Phillips for Randolph, Herman for McAdams, Mays for Bodenstein, McMurrough for Phillips.

WOLVES OUTPLAY DOCTORS IN GREAT SCORELESS TIE

(Continued from Page 1.)

However, he was overruled by the umpire and Referee Andrews, amid the protestations and howls of the spectators. It is bad policy to blame the loss of a victory on officials, but this is another instance of a big "break"—if we may call it that—that went against Loyola.

The work of "Deuce" Domengeaux at quarter and Lastie Broussard at half, bordered on the sensational all through the game. A 50-yard run by Domengeaux in the first half was one of the brightest bits of football in a great game.

The line must be taken as a whole, for more credit to any one individual would be unjust. Jeff Curtis played a really great game on end, breaking up many of the Tennessee plays before they were well started. Unsworth and Burguires at the tackles; Tuminello and Cerniglia at guards and Guidry in the center formed a set of forwards that proved impregnable.

For the first half of the game, Loyola completely outclassed the Doctors, not allowing them a first down, while the Wolves' backs scored six and were deprived of a touchdown by hard luck. The Doctors opened up with a furious rush in the second half. It was the same rush that had carried them to victory in three years of campaigning, but it failed to work against a team that wouldn't be beaten and because it wouldn't, it couldn't be beaten.

The great stand made by the Wolves against Tennessee seems more impressive in the face of the scores of several games this season. The Tennessee Doctors scored a 55-0 victory over Southwestern Presbyterian University. Tennessee U., which defeated Tulane 13-2, beat S. P. U. only 13-0.

The Doctors also hold a 14-0 victory over Union, which team was beaten 6-0 by the Mississippi Aggies. The 0-0 tie which the Aggies played with Vanderbilt shows how strong they rate in the Southern football field, and it also enables the Tennessee Doctors and Loyola, who outplayed the Doctors, to take a position at the top of Southern footballdom.

The line-ups—

Loyola—	Pos.	Tennessee
Curtis	L.E.	Leake
Unsworth	L.T.	Payne
Tuminello	L.G.	C. Ford
Guidry	C.	McLaughlin
Cerniglia	R.G.	Sullivan
Burguires	R.T.	H. Ford
Nolan	R.E.	Leggett
Domengeaux	Q.B.	Sanders
Broussard	L.H.	Doak (c)
Winling	R.H.	Munn
Smith (c)	F.B.	White

Substitutes — Loyola: Gibson for Broussard; Broussard for Gibson; White for Smith. Tennessee: Raines for Doak; King for Munn; Doak for Leggett; Leggett for Doak; Laird for Sullivan; Swindell for Leggett.

First Downs: Loyola, 14; Tenn. 8. Forward Passes complete: Loyola, 5; yardage, 46; Tennessee, 1; yardage, 20. Passes incomplete: Loyola, 4; Tenn. 7. Fumbles: Loyola, 3; Tenn. 2. Penalties: Loyola, 25; Tenn. 25. Average Punts: Winling, 47 yards; White, 44 yards.

Time of Periods: 15 minutes.

Officials: Andrews (Tulane) referee; Maloney (Tulane) umpire; Schwartz (Tulane) head linesman; P. J. Flanagan (P.S.A.L.) timekeeper.

Varsity Football Schedule

Saturday, October 13, 1923

Louisiana State Normal	—at—	Loyola University
L. S. N.—0		L. U.—36

Sunday, October 21, 1923

Spring Hill College	—at—	Loyola University
S. H. C.—6		L. U.—19

Saturday, October 27, 1923

Marion Institute	—at—	Loyola University
M. I.—0		L. U.—33

Saturday, November 3, 1923

University of Dallas	—at—	Loyola University
U. of D.—0		L. U.—10

Saturday, November 10, 1923

Tennessee Medics.	—at—	Loyola University
T. M.—0		L. U.—0

Saturday, November 24, 1923

Louisiana Polytechnic	—at—	Ruston, La.
L. P. I.—		L. U.—

Thursday, November 29, 1923

Louisiana College	—at—	Alexandria, La.
L. C.—		L. U.—

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Saturday, October 20, 1923

Gulf Coast Military Academy	—at—	Loyola University
G. C. M. A.—19		L. F.—6

Sunday, October 28, 1923

Jefferson College	—at—	Loyola University
J. C.—9		L. F.—6

Saturday, November 3, 1923

L. S. U. Freshmen	—at—	Loyola University
L. S. U. F.—13		L. F.—0

Sunday, November 11, 1923

Audubon	—at—	Loyola University
A.—6		L. F.—0

LOYOLA STUDENTS AND ALUMNI

Will find ready for them in the

MEN'S STORE

of

D. H. HOLMES CO., Ltd.

All the Newest Styles in

SUITS and FURNISHINGS

A Store for Students and Young Men

On the Maison Blanche Main Floor you will find grouped together everything to outfit yourself—the newest style suits, top-coats and overcoats—strong, stylish, moderately priced shoes and everything you need in accessories. Watch the daily newspapers for announcements of special values.

Maison Blanche
GREATEST STORE SOUTH

You can save more at the Maison Blanche